THE GERMAN PAVILION

A. The Barcelona Chair

14. In addition to designing the German Pavilion, Mies van der Rohe also designed the furniture featured inside the pavilion. He designed a chair in the form of the design that is set forth below:

B. The Barcelona Stool

KNOLL AND ITS RIGHTS IN THE BARCELONA COLLECTION

20. By an agreement dating from November 1, 1965, Mies van der Rohe assigned all rights, title and interest in and to the design of the Barcelona Chair, the Barcelona Stool, the Barcelona Couch, the Barcelona Table and the Flat Brno Chair (hereinafter collectively referred to as the “Barcelona Collection”) to predecessors of Knoll as to the rights herein involved .

21. Knoll and its predecessors in interest as to the rights herein involved have been continuously manufacturing, displaying, promoting and selling the Barcelona Collection since at least as early as January 1, 1954.

22. The various furniture items in the Barcelona Collection have been the subjects of third party commentary in numerous books, newspaper articles and magazine articles, virtually all of which identify Knoll or its predecessors in interest as to the rights herein involved as the source of these items.

24. The Barcelona Collection is in the Museum of Modern Art’s design collection. Some of these pieces have there since the 1950s. The Museum of Modern Art, as well as other museums, always identify Mies van der Rohe as the designer of the Barcelona Collection, and Knoll as the source and manufacturer of these items.

25. Knoll markets and sells the Barcelona Collection throughout the United States and internationally. In connection with these efforts, Knoll maintains an internet website at <http://www.knoll.com>, which contains information about Knoll’s furniture products. Knoll also issues advertising and promotional material relating to the Barcelona Collection, and has done so for many years.

26. As a result of all of the foregoing sales, manufacturing and promotional efforts, the Barcelona Chair, the Barcelona Stool, the Barcelona Couch, the Barcelona Table and the Flat Brno Chair have come to be associated with Knoll as their source.
